III SCHOLARLY AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Vicki Baker (Economics & Management) conducted a series of 3 workshops for Penn State University's Academic Leadership Academy:

- “Leading and Managing Career Development Strategies.” Three, 2-hour workshops developed and delivered for Penn State University’s Academic Leadership Academy hosted by the Center for the Study of Higher Education (June/July, 2021).

Vicki also delivered several presentations/talks, had an essay on faculty development accepted for publication, and contracted her 5th book:

- van Goch, M. M., Lutz, C., & Baker, V. L. (August, 2021). “Shape Your Own Professional Future Through Guided Reflection Exercises.” Workshop to be presented at the annual meeting of EARLi (virtual)
- Austin, A. E., Singer, S., Baker, V. L., Grimm, A., Shanks, L., & Devereaux, M. (June, 2021). Organization-focused Networks as Levers for Change: A Research-Based Theoretical Framework to Conceptualize their Work. Research presented as part of the ASCN/NSEC Annual Meeting (virtual).
- Panelist: “Brick X Brick: Small Business & Entrepreneurship” Albion Reinvestment Corporation (May 27, 2021)
- Baker, V. L. (July 24, 2021). “It’s Time for Academic Re-Entry: Three Post-Pandemic Career Tips for Women. The Academic Woman (Thoughts & Inspiration Section).
- Terosky, A. L., Baker, V. L., Sun, J. (contracted). A Practical Guide to Teaching Research Methods in Education. Routledge (Taylor & Francis) Publishing

Mark Bollman's (Mathematics & Computer Science) book, Mathematics of the Big Four Casino Table Games, was published in August by CRC Press/Taylor & Francis. The book's subtitle, “Baccarat, Blackjack, Craps, and Roulette,” tells you everything you need to know about the material covered.

Danit Brown (English) was approved for a large and small grant for her project “Coaching for Novel-In-Progress.”

Abby Cahill's (Biology) article “Causes of warm-edge range limits: systematic review, proximate factors and implications for climate change” (Cahill et al. 2014) was named as one of the most-cited papers led by women in the Journal of Biogeography between 2009 and 2020. It was highlighted in a virtual issue of the journal

(https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/toc/10.1111/\(ISSN\)1365-2699.Women_in_Biogeography1365-2699.Women_in_Biogeography)) and a blog post (<https://journalofbiogeographynews.org/2021/07/27/women-in-biogeography-1/>).

Nels Christensen's non-fiction feature “The Way You Do It: Remembering the Language of Fathers, Sons, and Guns” will be published in the upcoming November/December issue of Sports Afield. Over the summer, he presented an essay entitled “A Real and Righteous Insurrection: The Black Panther Party, The January 6 Mob, and Revolutionary Green ‘Fuckitness’” at the 2021 virtual conference of the Association for the Study of Literature and the Environment.

Drew Christopher (Psychology) was the recipient of the 2021 Excellence in Mentoring Undergraduate Research in the Social Sciences Award from the Social Sciences Division of the Council on Undergraduate Research (CUR).

Over the summer, Nancy Demerdash-Fatemi (Art & Art History) had two articles published: "Archival Critique and Activism: Memory, Preservation and Digital Visual Cultures in Post-Revolutionary Egyptian Heterotopias," in the Journal of the African Literature Association (vol. 15, no.3) and "Integration through Conversion: Discourses of Islam and the musulman laic in Contemporary French Cinema," in Kristian Petersen ed., Muslims in the Movies: A Global Anthology (Harvard University Press).

Ashley Feagin (Art & Art History) and Libby Rowe, exhibition "We Are Overwhelmed" opened at University at Texas at San Antonio; July 21, 2021- August 13, 2021. The two-person traveling exhibition features work created by Feagin supported by the Albion College 2021 Faculty Development Associate Professor Summer Fellowship.

Dianne Guenin-Lelle (Modern Languages & Cultures) was invited by the Louisiana State Museum's Friends of the Cabildo to give an author's talk on her book and the history of French New Orleans in May 2021.

Joseph Ho (History) will give a virtual public lecture for the Long US-China Institute at the University of California, Irvine on September 28. The lecture is titled "Photographic Encounters: Visual Technologies and Missionary Modernity in Republican China. Registration information https://uci.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_w9Zb5rbTmi3CyQf7DfEww.

On October 7, Joseph will present an invited talk at Michigan State University, titled "Graven Images: Missionary Visual Practices and Cross-Cultural Imaginations of Religion in China." The talk is sponsored in part by the MSU Department of Religious Studies.

On October 14, Joseph will present an invited talk at Whitworth University, titled "Envisioning and Imagining Modern East Asia."

Joseph's book chapter, "Through the Narrow Gate: Visual Performativity and Cinematic Translations of Missionary Transnationalism in China" has been accepted for publication in Translation as Practice: Intercultural Encounters, China, and the Creation of Global Modernities, Filippo Marsili and Eugenio Menegon, eds. (Edinburgh University Press).

Lia Jensen-Abbott (Music) used her spring 2021 sabbatical to complete her three CD volume set of the Albion College Diabelli Squared Project. On May 9-15, 2021, Lia recorded and edited Volumes t=Two and Three. They are currently available in CD format and will soon be released digitally on Odd Pop Records. She also has continued to make upgrades to her project's website, diabellisquared.com. In addition, Lia took on the demanding task of performing all three CD programs on May 17-19, 2021 in Goodrich Chapel. Each of the three days featured an afternoon lecture recital followed by a complete performance of the work being discussed. All six recitals were recorded and are currently being linked to her website.

The third CD volume includes thirteen commissioned variations from composers from six continents, culminating in a multi-year project dedicated to the idea that musical variation structure embraces unity but also champions diversity.

Deborah Kanter (History) was awarded the Hamlin Garland Prize in Popular History from the Midwestern History Association. The prize recognizes her book Chicago Católico: Making Catholic Parishes Mexican. The Hamlin Garland Prize in Popular History honors a work of popular history about the Midwest published in the previous calendar year that contributes to broader public reflection and appreciation of the region's past.

Scott Melzer (Anthropology & Sociology) appeared in the gun documentary, The Price of Freedom (<https://www.thepriceoffreedommovie.com/>), which premiered at the Tribeca Film Festival in June, and will have its national premiere this month on CNN. He also appeared in a CNBC short documentary on stay-at-home dads:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hHCcVqjRu1I> (Why More Men are Becoming Stay-at-home Dads, CNBC Make It, May 5, 2021). Finally, he was interviewed for a video/podcast on his scholarly work and men's sexual violence for the Education and Training Committee for the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers, an international organization whose aim is to end sexual abuse.

Ola Olapade (Biology) was awarded a research fellowship to the University of Fort Hare, Alice Campus, South Africa this past summer that was sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation and the Institute of International Education (IIE). He also co-authored a research paper titled "Virulence and antibiotic resistance characteristics of Vibrio isolates from rustic environmental freshwaters" (Digban TO, Gxalo O, Igere BE, Olapade OO, Okoh AI, and Nwodo UU. 2021) that was recently published by the Journal of Frontiers in Cellular and Infection Microbiology.
